PAWNEE BILL'S WILD WEST SHOW HITS TOWN

Two Days of Preparation
Should Result in a
Good Performance.

After two days of preparation, Pawnee Bill's wild west aggregation of show people should be able to give a first class performance this afternoon if one they can give.

The circus train arrived early yesterday morning from Santa Fe, where a performance was given to a small crowd on Saturday and moved bag and baggage to some vacant lots between Third and Fourth streets south of Pacific avenue just outside the city limits. The moving consumed several hours. The cars were unloaded near the Central avenue crossing. A place nearer the show grounds could have been found south of the city but a haul through Basulas would not have been as good an advertisement as the haul through the main part of the city.

Sunday Schools Sparingly Attended.
The line of march was down Central avenue to the corner of Third street and then south on Third street to the circus grounds. People lined the sidewalk all the way and many followed to the circus ground and watched the interesting spectacle of seeing a large circus camp. Churches were scantily attended and Sunday schools were sparingly attended by nervous children as a result.

Crowds began going to the circus grounds early and all day the cars were filled with people going and coming.

The Parade.
It proceeded out Central avenue to old town and then came back through the business section of the city. One of the largest crowds in many a day was out to see the elephants, the camels, the steam camel, Pawnee Bill himself and all the rest of his outfit. The procession was about five blocks long—not as long as advertised—but long enough to show that the company is equipped sufficiently to give a first class performance.

The cowboys of the show are the genuine articles, as are the burmen from Australia, the Singalese from Sing-Sing, the Hindus from India, the Cossacks from Russian and the Indians from the plains. The Indian part of the parade was especially gaudy. A better day for a circus crowd could not be wished and if the customary evening rain does not set in about 4 o'clock Pawnee Bill will undoubtedly draw a big audience this evening. A large number of people from out of town came especially to see the circus. While the show may lack certain features of the regulation circus, as a wild west exhibition, it ranks with the show of Buffalo Bill. The thrilling enactments of a train hold-up and other features of early western life are said to be most realistic. From here the show will go to Socorro and then proceed to Silver City. The attendance this afternoon is large.

BLIND WOMAN RECOVERS SIGHT AT ST. JOSEPH'S HOSPITAL

Remarkable Operation Is Considered Little Short of a Miracle.

Mrs. Angella Alexandre, aged 55 years, three weeks ago totally blind, today walked from the St. Joseph hospital unguided and unassisted, and went to her home, 624 West Tijeras avenue, seeing things that she had not seen before for years. Mrs. Alexandre recovered her sight through an operation performed upon her eyes.

For years previous to the operation Mrs. Alexandre's eyes had been sightless. Little by little a superfluous growth had gradually covered them, shutting out the outside world. Dr. W. G. Shadrach, the local eye, ear and nose specialist, was called in to look at the case. Dr. Shadrach recommended an operation but it was some time after he decided that an operation was necessary to restore the woman's sight before she consented. It was three weeks ago Saturday when the woman went to the hospital and the operation was performed shortly after by Dr. Shadrach assisted by Dr. Tull. Yesterday she was discharged from the hospital.

Taking Mrs. Alexandre's age into consideration the restoring of her sight after her long blindness is considered marvelous and little short of a miracle.

WHAT PAWNEE BILL HAS TO PAY DAILY FOR FOOD

How It Is Cooked—Animals Are Kept Sleek With Curry Comb and Brush.

In the big dining room tent of the Pawnee Bill show 470 people are fed at every meal and the daily cost of providing food for this small army of circus people is $275. When interviewed on the subject, Martin Kelly, the head steward of the show, said:

"We use 1,300 pounds of meat daily; we serve two kinds at each meal and it is cooked by three first class cooks. We use 400 loaves of bread a day; 65 pounds of coffee; 120 pounds of sugar; 80 pounds of butter; 3 1/2 bushels of beans; 14 pounds of tea; 14 bushels of potatoes and three cases of condensed cream. We put up a good, wholesome meal and all the people eat at the show dining tent except on Sundays when some of the performers patronize hotels, that is, if we are in a city. We cook different sorts of meals for the different classes, but all the food is well prepared. Two kinds of vegetables go with every meal and we always have hot cakes for breakfast.

Cook Meal For 470 in An Hour.
"We can set up the dining tent and have a meal ready to serve in less than an hour. The government recently detailed six men to travel with our outfit six weeks to study our methods of field cooking in view of getting ideas for the army. We cook on the old Dutch stoves which are simple contrivances of iron which set on the ground and are capable of great heat in a very short time. We formerly used stoves such as are adopted by the army, but experience has taught us that our present methods are cleaner, better and quicker.

How Meals are Served.
"Our great difficulty is to get sufficient supplies in the smaller cities. We buy all our supplies except meat, from the city where we show. We order our meat from big packing houses so that we can always depend upon having enough. Our kitchen and dining room force consists of three cooks (R. C. Burke is head cook and C. O. Havens is second cook), a butcher, Ed Patterson, three dish washers, one bread boy, one butler boy and thirty-six waiters. It keeps this entire force hustling to supply the people at the tables. We have two specially made wagons in which we carry our provisions and we always aim to have three days' stock of provisions ahead. While on the road we are put to much difficulty in feeding the people, but if possible, a stop is made, the kitchen taken from the train, set up and a meal cooked. We have a 'privilege car' where the people can buy a cup of coffee, sandwiches, pies, etc., while traveling. The bar has all our pies and other pastry, buying only our bread."

Animals With Show.
The live stock of the Pawnee Bill show consists of 8 buffaloes, 4 elephants, 8 camels, 33 ponies, 91 arena horses, 14 donkeys and 90 baggage horses. To feed these animals four tons of hay are used daily, 120 bushels of oats, ten bushels of corn and 400 pounds of bran. Only the best grade of feed is used for the stock.

Elbow Grease Makes Horses Sleek.
"How is it that circus horses always look so sleek and fat?" was asked of one of the hostlers of the show.

"The only reason I know is that we give them the best of care and treat them well," was the answer. The hostler said no oils were used on the animals and the sleekness was gained entirely by the use of curry comb and brush. Despite the fact that the horses have to spend the greater part of their time in stock cars, they keep in excellent health. Charles Evans, the boss hostler, is a veterinary surgeon and he has supervision of all the live stock. The riding stock is in charge of Link Rushenberg and the splendid condition of these animals speaks well for his ability to care for blooded animals. Sixty hostlers are required to handle the animals of the show. Mike Alexander is the assistant boss hostler. On the road the animals are accompanied in light comfortable stock cars. Twenty-three cars carry the complete show outfit. A wagon fitted up as a miniature blacksmith shop is carried with the show and two mechanics devote their entire time to shoeing horses and repairing harness.

THREE UMPIRES WERE USED AGAINST THE BROWNS

Albuquerque Won Score 9 to 6—Gate Receipts $130 Expenses $160.

Baseball between Albuquerque and Santa Fe is over for this season anyway. The game yesterday cooked the baseball goose between these two towns for a time at least. Albuquerque won by a score of 9 to 6, but it was not the fault of the three umpires used up in the game. L. U. Morrison was the first umpire who went away back and sat down. The trouble with Morrison came after he had given Pettus a base on balls when really he struck out and called a man safe at home and one safe at first, where outs were made by such wide margins that the men in the grand stand who had bet their money on the Browns held their breath. Morrison was replaced by Johnson and Johnson was replaced by another man. The non de plume hombre, however, survived the end of the game.

Lopez was in the box for the Browns and Galgano did the twirling for the Browns. The Browns got a dozen or more hits off the attention of Galgano and the Browns touched up for about half as many. The gate receipts were $130 and the expenses, including the three umpires, were $160, so the locals did not bring any money home.

CHANGE OF BILL AT THE CRYSTAL

The many Monday nighters who attend the Crystal Theatre this night will experience a delightful change in the show. This week's new bill consists of six vaudeville numbers and such is a feature.

First on the program is Godfrey, the celebrated comedy acrobat. Mr. Godfrey is direct from Los Angeles, where he was a great hit last week. He is an acrobat among the best and his comedy antics are a revelation.

Another welcome feature is J. W. Logan, the new illustrated song singer, who will sing the late, beautiful ballad, "That's What I'm Working For."

Prof. Ver Valen, the most expert and accomplished ventriloquist in vaudeville, will be one of the big hits of the week. Ver Valen carries an entire stage full of wonderful life size figures.

Another delightful act is that of Billy Behan, the concertina specialist and singing, talking and dancing comedian. Mr. Behan is always bright and entertaining and this evening he has a better routine than ever before.

Owing to the great hit of the Four Franks here last week, the management was enabled to have their date in Los Angeles set back a week and to retain the favorite quartette for another week here. They will do their best to make this morning which they call their black-face act.

Edison's latest moving pictures will conclude the performance. These will be another feature.

Ladies' souvenir matinees will be given again tomorrow afternoon and should draw a large crowd.

SIX SHOOTERS DON'T GO IN ALBUQUERQUE

A cowboy with red shirt and swaggar clothes of the real "wild west" kind, presumably an employee of the Pawnee Bill show, walked down Broadway street this morning with a small sized cannon strapped to his hip. Sheriff Perfecto Armijo saw the cowboy and a second later signed the warrant. Going up quietly behind the man, the sheriff seized the gun, shoved it under the fellow's nose and said:

"Come on and pay the judge $50." The man, who was named Perfecto, walked him to the judge's office.

The court found the man in the bogus chaps guilty, and the penalty was fifty and costs. The man belonged to the circus and Pawnee Bill paid the bill.

THIEVES ROB ROSS FILIGREE STORE

New Suit of Clothes and $80 Worth of Jewelry Taken—Man With Sandy Mustache Connected With Crime.

The filigree store of M. Ross, on South Third street, was broken into last night and goods stolen from it valued at about $82. The goods stolen consisted of about $60 worth of silver filigree work, which the thieves found in an open show case, and a new suit of clothes belonging to Mr. Ross with $22, that had never been worn.

Entrance to the building was gained by the breaking of a window glass to a shed in the rear and the forcing of a door between the main store and the shed. A safe in the store was not molested. They left the store by the same way they came leaving no clue to their identity. However, it is believed that the robbery might be connected with a certain stout man, with a sandy mustache, who was seen prowling around the neighborhood yesterday afternoon.

F. H. Kent, the real estate agent, who has offices on Third street, across an alley and two doors from the Ross store, says that he saw such a man walk slowly by his place and look in. In a few moments the same man walked back past his place again and this time stopped and putting his face close to the glass, looked in.

The man wore no coat and had a sandy mustache. He was very rough in appearance and a stranger to Mr. Kent, though the latter says that he can identify him should he ever see him again.

JURY ACQUIT MILSAP OF MURDER OF BOB STEEL

Defense Claimed Self-Defense --There Were No Witnesses to Shooting.

Captain Fred Fornoff, of the New Mexico mounted police, is in the city while on route to Silver City to attend court. Captain Fornoff says that in many respects the circumstances of the killing of Robert Steel, a gambler at Clayton last week, by W. J. Milsap, a stockman of Colfax county, have been misrepresented. There was no woman present at the killing. Milsap had been at a dance and left the dance to get a drink at a saloon across the street from the dance hall. He met Steel at the door of the saloon and the latter asked him for some money that he had won in a poker game. The two men left the saloon together and walked up the street. The shooting took place in a very dark place and there were no witnesses to it. Steel was shot through the head and Milsap was shot in the leg, the bullet ranging downward at such an angle as to enter above the calf of the leg and come out below the ankle. Milsap says that Steel pulled his gun first and he knocked it down. The gun went off and the shot took effect in his leg. He then pulled his own gun and shot Steel in self defense. A jury has acquitted Milsap of the crime.

PARK CASINO IS CLOSED AGAIN

Boston Ideal Opera Company Failed to Draw a Crowd Sufficient to Make It Pay.

The Boston Ideal Opera company closed its engagement here last night with the performance of a lively, though not especially meritorious piece entitled "The Fortune Seekers." A large audience gathered at the Traction park Casino and seemed to be greatly pleased with the performance judging by the volume of applause. The members of the opera company will remain in Albuquerque long enough to see Pawnee Bill's wild west show and tomorrow morning will proceed to Santa Fe for a special performance, after which they will fill an engagement at Trinidad. The Boston Ideal Opera company is by far the best summer theatrical company that has been in Albuquerque in the last few years, but for some reason it did not do a big business in this city. Unfavorable weather was against them, for one thing, and the competition of other shows in the heart of the city, tended to keep the people from making the trip to Traction park evenings.
